Berlin, via London, Aug. 22.—French troops have gained a footing in the southeastern part of Avocourt wood and on the knolls to the east of that position on the Verdun front, says the official statement issued today by the German war office. The German statement also says that the French forced their way into the German positions in the southern part of the village of Sioncourt on the east bank of the Meuse. The losses of the French infantry, the German report says, were very heavy and the French command had to replace several of the attacking divisions.

After the battle around Lens yesterday, the German general staff reports the coal depot southwest of the French main center remained in the hands of the British.

Check Enemy's Drive.

Paris, Aug. 22.—The Germans made a violent counter attack last night on the Verdun front west of the Meuse. They penetrated the French lines at points in their attempt to recapture the ground taken from them in the French offensive, but the war office announces they were driven out.

British Front in France and Belgium, Aug. 22.—The British began another operation northeast of Ypres at dawn today at the battle scarred ground between Langemark and Frezenberg. No details are yet available from this sector, which was the scene of some of the heaviest fighting last Thursday in the assault by the British.

Hold Lens Positions.

London, Aug. 22.—In the face of heavy German counter attacks the British have maintained the newly gained positions on the outskirts of Lens in the war office's report. Further progress has been made at some points.

Following is the official statement: "South and west of Lens yesterday morning on the outskirts of the town have been maintained, and further progress has been made at certain points north and south of Lens. As a result of heavy fighting in the course of which German counter attacks were repulsed by our rifle and machine gun fire, or broken up by our artillery, the British have gained positions in advanced positions captured on the 15th. There has been great artillery activity during the night on both sides, east and northeast of Ypres."

Irishmen in Heroic Fight.
British Front in France and Belgium, Aug. 22.—The story of the gallant fight waged by Irish troops on the Verdun front and south of Ireland in the latest British offensive northeast of Ypres, will make their names immortal in Irish annals.

The ground captured by the Irish troops fought yesterday may roughly be placed as lying between Fortin on the north and Frezenberg on the south. Before them lay strong Bavarian positions, scattered over a terrain which seemed almost impossible.

Stretching out from the Zonnebeke-Langemark road across the center of the battlefield was a ridge which dominated all surrounding ground, and from a narrow crest of machine guns on the crest could be poured a deluge of bullets into the advancing ranks.

Through the southern portion of this section the Irish troops advanced, and poured a deluge of bullets from both banks of the stream were many steel and concrete redoubts holding from twenty to thirty men. The Irish were undaunted. Every knoll was a strong Bavarian position.

Face of Hall of Bullets.
The Irishmen met the left of the Bavarian line and men of the south on the right. Shoulder to shoulder they moved out among the heart-breaking obstacles at break of dawn, buzzing at every step, and the neighboring German positions were held by a line of German outposts. These Bavarians fell back and almost immediately the Irishmen found machine gun being fired from the German positions. A vicious steady stream of lead burst high across the whole battlefield. Amidst this hail of bullets the Irishmen pushed doggedly forward. The Irishmen first struck a position called Pond Farm, below Fortin. They plunged into the gun trench and a fierce struggle followed. They fought until the last German lay crumpled beside his gun.

A small machine gun was left to hold this place and the Irishmen pushed on. There was bitter fighting at every step. Near Pond Farm they were held up by a machine gun which was entangled in a thicket of trees. They struggled through they were swept by bullets. Numerous redoubts were encountered beyond, and in some cases it was hard to huddle up to a final with a strong enemy.

North of Frezenberg was a redoubt called Borri farm, holding 60 to 80 Bavarians with machine guns. The position was too strong for the Irish to take.

Make Heavy Sacrifice.
The Irishmen battled on until these troops which had essayed an attack on the fortification were held up. But others pushed to Hill 55, as the ridge which dominated the surrounding ground was known, and for a time that eminence was too important for the Germans to relinquish. They massed great numbers of men behind it and hurled them against the Irish. The latter met the onslaught with bayonets and determinedly.

They were greatly outnumbered and gradually fell back, but no more heroic effort has been made since the war began. The conflict continued about Lens, though apparently greatly diminished in intensity, with the Canadians still holding the Germans

Government to Take
Food Supply Census

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Washington, Aug. 22.—The department of agriculture set in motion today the machinery for taking a nationwide census of the food supply. The survey, including one hundred thousand households, will register supplies on farms, warehouses and stores, and even in family larders.

A preliminary survey of eight-tenths of the principal commodities will be taken within the next month, and a complete survey will follow after the season's crops are gathered.

off from the positions they had gained in the southwestern part of the city yesterday, and at the same time clinging tenaciously to the numerous new posts in the German line on the northwestern section. Fierce hand to hand fighting continued late into the night, especially in the northwest portion which lies at the junction of the Meuse and the Moselle. The Germans continued to fling heavy counter attacks against the Canadians. This morning the advantage rested with the British, and nowhere have the Germans been able to reach the lines from which the Canadians began their offensive yesterday morning.

Seek to Regain Hill 70.
It now appears from statements of German prisoners, that the German counter attack at dawn yesterday, which by a strange coincidence began at the same hour as the preliminary Canadian attack, was preliminary to a general counter attack, which had as its object the recovery of Hill 70, possession of which is necessary if the Germans are to continue their hold on Lens.

Large numbers of troops have been massed for this attack, and these were used freely in the sanguinary struggle of yesterday and last night.

Drive Against Slavs.
Petrograd, Aug. 22.—The Germans have begun an offensive on the northern part of the Russian line between the Tsimar marsh and the river Aa, the war office announces. The Russians have retired two or three versts northward between the marshes and the river.

REFERENDUM BALKS
STRIKE OF I. W. W.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Missoula, Mont., Aug. 22.—A referendum vote on orders issued by a federal strike of Industrial Workers of the World in Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon, will postpone for at least two weeks the strike of the district, according to Arthur Smith, I. W. W. secretary here.

No Strike Expected.
"There will probably be no strike," Smith said. "Since immigration restrictions were suspended a week ago by the American and Canadian governments, men have gone north from the district, including Spokane, at the rate of fifty a day to work in Canadian harvest fields. Should the lumber camps and Butte mines be closed, the strike would not find one-fourth of the men needed here."

Interest in Rowan's Fate.
Spokane, Wash., Aug. 22.—The strike of I. W. W. agriculture and construction workers of the four northwestern states apparently a failure, interest today centered in the fate of James Rowan, district secretary, who was held as a military prisoner in the county jail.

A summary of reports from all parts of the state affected by the strike, for the first two days it was supported for the strike, showed today it had been generally disregarded.

With the possible exception of Premier Kerensky, Dr. Michaelis has the most difficult task of any statesman in Europe. It is his job to make a favorable peace during the short time that is left before the inevitable military collapse of Germany.

ITALIANS CAPTURE
MORE THAN 13,000
ENEMY PRISONERS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Rome, Aug. 22.—More than 13,000 Austro-Hungarian prisoners have been captured by the Italians in their offensive on the Isonzo front, the Italian war department announced today. The Italians also have taken thirty guns.

General Cadorna reports that the Italians have gained new successes along the whole battle line north of Gorizia and the operations are proceeding regularly. To the south, the enemy is retreating, especially on the Carso front.

Halt Italian Attack.
Vienna, Aug. 22.—The new attack of the Italians has forced back the Austrian line at some points, the war office announces, and the village of Selo, on the Carso plateau, has been lost. It is said the Austrians have taken more than 5,000 prisoners.

Austrian Statement.
The statement follows: "The eleventh battle of the Isonzo has succeeded in the ten preceding battles in breaking our victorious defensive strength. South of Auzza and east of Canale (on the Isonzo, south of Tolmino) the enemy succeeded in driving in our front slightly."

After an attack southeast of Canale some of our detachments held their positions until they were surrounded completely, after which they cut their way out. Between the Darsela and the Wipbach an assault failed in the face of the heroic defense of our lines. On the Carso the enemy, at the cost of thousands of men, obtained a local success.

TEUTON AIR RAIDERS
VISIT BRITISH COAST

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

London, Aug. 22.—German airships made a raid at the Yorkshire coast last night, it is announced officially. So far as has been ascertained the damage inflicted was small.

An air raid warning was issued in London this morning. About an hour later the announcement "All clear" was made, indicating that the raiders had been driven off.

Ten aeroplanes approached the English coast in the county of Kent today, the British war office announces. Two of the raiding machines were brought down.

Bombs were dropped at Dover (an important naval base on the English channel) and at Margate three miles away. A considerable number of persons were killed and many were wounded, though no reliable figures are available.

Leaders of Various Parties in Reichstag Are Said to Uphold Stand Taken by Kaiser's Mouthpiece.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Berne, Switzerland, British admiralty per wireless press, Aug. 22.—In diplomatic circles, the passage in the speech of Dr. George Michaelis, the German chancellor, in which he said: "Notwithstanding the efforts to hasten a decision it has not yet been possible for Germany to agree with her allies, concerning a joint reply to the papal note," is interpreted as indicating a difference of opinion between Berlin and Vienna, and also between Vienna and Sofia, Austria, according to reports, desires a complete acceptance of the papal note, whereas Germany wishes only conditional acceptance. Bulgaria insists on holding territory now occupied by her.

The text of the speech delivered yesterday by Chancellor Michaelis before the Reichstag main committee has not been received. Cable summaries of the speech and the chancellor informed the committee that Germany would not reply to the papal note until she consulted her allies, but there was no intimation that difficulties had been encountered in reaching an agreement.

WIRELESS MESSAGES

OF SHIP'S SINKING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

An Atlantic Port, Aug. 22.—A succession of wireless calls telling the story of a sea tragedy of which an unknown steamer was the victim of a German submarine, are recorded in the log of a neutral steamer which arrived here recently from a Scandinavian port.

The calls were recorded while the neutral vessel was passing close to the Irish coast. The international "S. O. S." was followed by the message: "We are being chased by a submarine."

Then minutes later the log shows the following was heard: "Turry assistance, we are being shelled. A lack of fifteen minutes follows; then the entry: 'Ship is on fire and sinking. Captain ordered men to life boats.'"

Five minutes later comes the final message through the air: "We are done for," giving also the position of the ship.

The neutral vessel forbidden by regulation to go to the rescue, relayed the call and in about twenty minutes picked up a radio from an American destroyer reading: "We will reach you in one hour."

Senate May Increase
Surtaxes On Incomes

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Washington, Aug. 22.—After protracted debate in which many senators urged heavier levies on incomes and war profits in the tax bill, the senate today tentatively adopted Senator Lewis' amendment which would add $40,376,000 by greatly increasing surtaxes on incomes exceeding $500,000.

On a test vote for elimination of the so-called Lenroot amendment in the house providing for twenty-five percent increase in surtaxes exceeding $50,000 and raise about $36,000,000 in revenue, the senate voted 35 to 42 against elimination by the finance committee.

Charges that the government has been defrauded out of fully $300,000,000 in income taxes, evaded by the wealthy, were made in the senate today by Senator Lewis of Illinois who declares the treasury department has the proof.

PRESIDENT LOWERS
BITUMINOUS COAL
PRICES AT MINES

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Washington, Aug. 22.—President Wilson has announced provisional prices for bituminous coal at the mines.

While it is stated that the prices are "not only fair and just, but also will be a benefit to the public in close touch with the coal situation that the figures would prove a severe blow to the producers."

The prices are fixed by states and range from $2 to $3.25 for run of mine, and $2.15 to $3.50 for prepared sizes to $1.75 to $3 for slack or screenings.

These prices will affect the public as well as the government, although machinery through which costs piling up through middlemen may be cut down has not yet been decided.

This will be the next step taken by the executive. Authority will be vested in a coal dictator, to be named by the president, probably tomorrow.

The official announcement from the White House follows: "The following scale of prices is prescribed for bituminous coal at the mines for the recovery of the coal districts. It is provisional only. It is subject to reconsideration when the whole method of administering the fuel supply of the country has been satisfactorily organized and put into operation. Subsequent measures will have as their object a fair and equitable control of the distribution of the supplies and the prices to be paid by the middlemen and the retailers."

"The prices provisionally fixed here are fixed by the recent act of congress regarding administration of the food supply of the country, which also conferred upon the executive control of the actual act of production and are deemed to be not only fair and just, but liberal as well. Under them the industry should nowhere lack stimulation."

Chicago, Aug. 22.—The Consumers' company, Chicago, said to be the largest retail coal dealer in the world, today announced a slash of from $1 to $1.80 in soft coal, effective immediately. This is in line with the price fixed by President Wilson. Other retailers will make similar cuts, it was said. It was estimated the reduction will cut Chicago's coal bill by $30,000,000.

Wilson Promises Relief.
Madison, Aug. 22.—President Wilson has promised the people of Wisconsin relief from the coal situation. The following letter was received at the executive offices today:

EXEMPTIONS
REDUCED BY
NEW RULINGFLAT FEET, LIGHT WEIGHT, AND
POOR EYES NO LONGER CONSIDERED ABSOLUTE BARRIERS TO SERVICE.

117 FROM FIRST CALL

Greater Leniency Changes Decisions
of Local Board and Thirteen More Are Chosen From
First 304.

Supplementary examinations and decisions of the local exemption board has increased the 104 men certified for military service out of the first 304 called up for examination. The re-examinations were made following certain decisions issued by the war department regarding physical defects and also after further investigation in some cases regarding the justice of claims for exemption. With fewer men exempted and with the district boards, to which all appeal cases and those asking exemption on agricultural and industrial grounds, holding down the disqualifications to a minimum, it is now the belief that the first district's quota of 162 men will be secured from the 604 already called up, and that no additional call will be necessary.

Reduce Physical Barrier.
Among the points in physical condition which greater leniency is being shown and which has resulted in an increase in the number of men accepted by the local board and certified to the district board for military service, the question of flat feet stands out prominently. Under the rulings which prevailed at the time the first decisions were made and the list of the first 104 men was published, any case of flat feet was sufficient to disqualify a man for service in the draft army, as well as in any of the volunteer branches. Now, however, disqualification is not made unless the case is so severe that the feet are actually deformed. It became evident when the reports of the local examining boards were made over, that feet are found among a large number of American men, but in most cases they are not of a severe enough nature to put them at a disadvantage in military service. Consequently the ruling was abated and as a result many men who were formerly disqualified now find themselves instated among the honor men.

Similarly, other physical defects which formerly constituted effective barriers to draft have now been overruled. The weight limit has been increased from 125 to 140 pounds, thus admitting many men who were formerly too light. Defective eyesight, unless it is too bad, is no longer a bar to service. The war department has recognized that many men with poor eyes, where the vision is corrected by glasses, are fit for duty in branches behind the lines, and that the new ruling will take in many more men than were admitted formerly.

Since Monday the decisions on the first 304 men called up, and this morning started consideration of the examinations and claims for exemption of the second group of 300 who were up for examination on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week. It is expected that they will have completed consideration of the cases by Thursday night or Friday morning at the latest, and will forward all names to the district board at Madison.

While nothing definite can be foretold regarding the number of exemptions which the district board will allow, it is thought that far fewer will be made than were at first anticipated. The new ruling will take in many more men than were admitted formerly.

FARMHOUSE RAFFLES' SUITCASE DISCLOSES LOOT FROM 6 HOMES

Undersheriff Arrests Farm Hand and Discovers Goods and Jewelry Taken From Town of Harmony Homes.

Town of Harmony farm wives and their husbands are breathing in relief today confident that the farm-house raffles whose depredations of the past six weeks in no less than half a dozen farm houses are ended with the arrest and confinement behind bars in the county jail of John Johnson, a farm hand employed by William Clark of Mt. Zion, whose capture was made by the sheriff's office through the work of Turnkey and Deputy Sheriff Fred Beasley. Johnson's suitcase gave up watches, other jewelry, razors and divers articles which have been identified as the property of farmers whose homes have been burglarized since the night of June 25. Johnson was first entered six weeks ago Sunday.

Johnson was brought into court this morning and charged with the burglary at the home of Doherty. From the amount of evidence which the sheriff's office claims to have discovered in his grip he could have been arraigned on numerous other charges. Johnson has worked about the county for some time. Little is known of relatives although it is thought that he has a sister or cousin residing in the city of Janesville. He appeared to be mentally deficient but not to such an extent that he is idiotic.

Farm homes of Doherty, August 20, 1917. Fred Koberg, and William Clark, Johnson's employer, were entered and ransacked in each case when the family was away. William Henke, a farmer living south of Mt. Zion, drove into the yard of his home Monday night and the auto headlights flashing on the front of the house showed the screen door held open with a broom and the other door ajar. Johnson was inside. He told Henke he was lost and was preparing to go to bed, as nobody was home, and in the morning location where he was.

Johnson informed Beasley, and the undersheriff immediately got track of Johnson. He was arrested and his room searched.

In his suitcase were three watches, three razors and one safety razor, a silk centerpiece, two pairs of trousers, one of broadcloth, several ladies' rings, a couple of pairs of cuff links and two dollars in cash.

Doherty, who was in court this morning when Johnson faced Judge Maxfield, said that he had identified one of the watches as belonging to his wife and taken from her home. He also said that August Lipke had identified a second. One of the other farmers listed above is reported to have lost a timepiece when his home was ransacked.

Judge Maxfield held the prisoner until five hundred dollars bail and set his examination for Aug. 29.

Several months ago Johnson came to the police station and made a complaint and later secured a warrant for the arrest of Seeman, alleging that the latter strong-armed and robbed him of five dollars when he went to Seeman's boarding house, the old Gary house, just west of the city. From that time on Johnson has been in the hands of the police. The fact that the case is still unfinished. At the time officers figured that there was little authenticity in Johnson's story and believed that he had been "rolled" by someone else while intoxicated.

In addition to the suitcase which contained the loot from the farm houses, Undersheriff Beasley and Doherty have reasons to believe that Johnson had a trunk cached elsewhere. He absolutely refuses to disclose its hiding place. It has been learned that he has in the past been in contact with him as he moved about the county.

MISS CONSTANCE HULBERT MARRIED IN MINNEAPOLIS

The marriage of Miss Constance Hulbert of this city to Peter J. Morrison of Fargo, N. D., was solemnized in Minneapolis Monday. Both young people are well known in Janesville. Mr. Morrison formerly resided in Janesville for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Morrison will make their home in Fargo, N. D. Miss Hulbert was accompanied to Minneapolis by her father, George Hulbert, who has returned to this city.

Marriage Licenses: Licenses to wed have been issued to the following by County Clerk Howard W. Lee: Edward T. Drenning of Racine and Carl G. Snyder of Madison; and William D. O'Connell of Kansas City, Missouri and Margaret S. Macnamara of Beloit. Mr. O'Connell is in the army.

Art League Picnic: There will be a picnic of the Art League held on Friday at York Park, going down on the ten o'clock car. It will be a picnic lunch, and members must be sure to bring their own beer and dishes. The committee in charge of arrangements are Mesdames C. Sanborn, T. O. Howe, H. Murdock, E. McGowan and F. Taylor.

GREAT RIVALRY FOR FURLOUGHS TO HOME

August 20, 1917. There was a great deal of rivalry between fourteen of us fellows when we marched up to Lieutenant Rau's tent and drew cuts for passes. Seven out of each company were allowed to leave of absence for the period of forty-eight hours and our seven were to be picked out of fourteen that had applied for passes. We all guessed on a lucky number between 1 and seven hundred and the seven ones and seven hundred were allowed to go. Two happened to be the lucky number and the numbers guessed ranged from the lucky thirteen to six hundred and eighty. Sergeant Grimshaw, Sergeant Murphy, Corporal Bumgarner, Beard, and Buglers Berg and Sartell happened to be the lucky ones.

We left on the afternoon train for Janesville and arrived home about seven o'clock. All of us were glad to see the old town once again. Many friends and relatives were there to greet us and when we started down the street it seemed like a great shaking of the hand to us. All of us wished that we could have had an extension on our leave.

When we left, there were not many good fellows left. There was a shedding of tears as the fellows felt rather bad and it was only with a great deal of effort that some of us did not shed a few tears.

Late this afternoon we were ordered to unfurl them as a rain storm was seen approaching. As I sit here the clouds are gathering and we expect another rainy evening.

They tell me that there was a big crowd here from Janesville Sunday and as usual they were hands were good for the fellows. We are rather afraid that we will not be here many more Sundays and we are glad that the people of Janesville are taking this advantage to visit us.

The menu for today is as follows: Breakfast—Hash, bread, syrup, coffee.

ACCEPTS PASTORATE AT MIDDLETOWN, N. Y.

Dr. Orville B. Swift, Formerly of Janesville, Receives Flattering Call in the East.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Swift, 315 Dodge street, have received word that their son, the Reverend Orville B. Swift, who has been pastor for four years at the Congregational church at Palmyra, N. Y., has accepted a call to the First Congregational church at Middletown, New York. He will assume his duties in the new pastorate Sept. 1st. Dr. Swift was graduated from the Janesville high school in 1905, attended Oberlin college and was graduated from the Union Theological Seminary in New York City in 1911 with the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

In regard to Dr. Swift's work at Palmyra, N. Y., the Fort Lee Sentinel says: Dr. Swift took up the work of the local church when its life was all but despaired of, gathering about him an ever growing group of men and women who wanted to see the life and usefulness of the church extended. He has increased the membership of the church fifty percent, won back to the services many once estranged, built a new edifice that is a model of its kind and size, and has seen the attendance increase thirty percent within the last year. Friendly and genial, no man has been a stranger to him, and some of the finest tributes paid to him have come from people having no connection with his church and in many instances from those of other faiths.

The church at Middletown, N. Y., to which the Reverend Swift is called, has been a struggling church for many years. It has a membership of over 400 and occupies a place of pre-eminence and influence in the city which has a population of 15,000.

Friends of Dr. Swift in Janesville will rejoice in his success in the ministerial field and will expect to hear shortly of his further advancement. He is the son of the late Dr. F. W. Swift, a well known minister and Oberlin college graduate.

HIS GRIP "WALKS" AWAY AS HE WATCHES CIRCUS WAGONS

Dick Wittenberg, a Milwaukee traveling man, rested his grip on the sidewalk in front of a pool hall on West Milwaukee street last night to watch the circus wagons move to the city of Janesville.

He looked for it several minutes later it had disappeared. Anybody happening to find or who saw a brown leather traveling sack moving either way on Milwaukee street inform the police.

Ninety Days: Pleading guilty to being a vagrant, and being intoxicated, Harry Zimmerman, a local product, was handed a ninety day "bit" by Judge Maxfield this morning.

Masonic Notice: Western Star Lodge No. 14 will meet in special communication tomorrow (Thursday) evening at 7:30. Work in the M. M. degree. Refreshments. Visiting brethren cordially invited.

Tuesday's Markets. Chicago, Aug. 22.—The long looked for $20 hogs arrived here yesterday. Two loads of 23 and 24 hogs, butchers selling to speculators at that price. The market weakened off materially before the close and it looked like the high spot had been reached for the time being.

Shipping and Canadian buyers had small orders to fill although latter operators paid up to $9.50 for some 187 to 206 lbs. offerings. Heavy butchers' pigs at $19.90 nearly all, although late best were obtainable below $19.75.

No prime cattle arrived and inquiry for them consequently went unheeded and bidding from those which sold at $15 at the start of this week prime corn fed lots will command a better price today.

Receipts for today are estimated at 15,000 cattle, 16,000 hogs and 12,000 sheep, against 21,805 cattle, 30,905 hogs and 23,151 sheep a year ago. Average price of hogs at Chicago was $19.90, the highest heavy butchers' pigs at $19.90, $11.10 a week ago, $10.83 a year ago and $6.85 two years ago.

Cattle Little Changed. Cattle yesterday traded about 1,000 rangers, and most offerings in both divisions were steady. Steer trade was dull because of plain quality butcher stock of a choice grade showed a drop, but of choice grade steers, feeding cattle showed little change, but the demand was limited. Calves were active and prices showed 25¢ gain, with some up to $15. Quotations:

Choicest to fancy steers... $14.00@15.00. Poor to good steers... 7.00@13.90. Yearlings, fair to fancy... 10.75@14.50. Fat cows and heifers... 6.50@12.00. Rattling cows... 6.00@8.00. Native bulls and stags... 6.00@10.15. Feeding cattle, 600@1.100 lbs... 6.00@9.00. Poor to fancy veal calves... 8.50@15.00.

Although hogs opened 25¢@35¢ higher for a few of the best lots yesterday, the market enjoyed the first setback since it has had for several weeks. Leading prices were mainly 25¢ lower than early and many loads went over unsold. Shippers were the lightest buyers in weeks. Two loads reached $20 early, but "big" kinds up to $24.00. Quotations:

Bulk of sales... $18.75@19.65. Heavy butchers and ship... 19.40@20.60. Light butchers... 19.40@19.95. Light packing, 260@400 lbs... 18.30@19.00. Mixed packing, 200@250 lbs... 18.40@18.90. Rough heavy packing... 17.80@18.25. Poor to best pigs, 60¢... 13.00@17.00. Stags, 80 lbs. dockage per head... 18.50@19.50.

Lambs Make Advance. Lambs sold strong to 25¢ higher yesterday and offerings changed hands in good season. Sheep went readily at steady prices. Feeder buyers bid the heaviest of the range lambs, paying up to $16.75, against a top of $16.45 to the packers. Native lambs topped at $16, with short sorting and best ewes made $10.00. Quotations: Lambs, common to fancy, $14.50@16.75. Lambs, good to good culls, $11.50@13.00. Yearlings, poor to best... 10.25@13.00. Wethers, poor to best... 9.50@11.50. Ewes, inferior to choice... 8.50@10.00. Bucks, common to choice, 7.00@8.00.

TORKLESON TO PITCH
BOOSTER DAY BATTLE

SORREL TOPPED MOUND MAN WHO TRIMMED WHITEWATER TO OPPOSE JEFFERSON IN BIG GAME ON BIG DAY SUNDAY.

BIG BEN "GINST" 'IM

Mainstay of Visitors' Strong Aggregation Listed for Opposition.—Eberts Confident "Red" Is a Winner.

Big Ben Bann of Jefferson can beat Torkleson, who is going to pitch for the Cardinals Sunday when the big baseball booster day is on at the Driving Park, then Captain "Duck" Eberts is going to lose a bet. "Duck" has all the confidence in the world regarding the sorrel topped moundsman and is willing to wager his life that the red-head can make it too hot for the visitors.

The result of the meeting of the club directors on Monday night at which it was decided to make next Sunday Booster Day, has received the general approval of the fans, and with the inauguration of the plan to dispose of tickets throughout the remainder of the week it is expected that the attendance will rival those of the days of '76 and '77, when the Janesville Nationals were winning world championships on the ball lot up where Fred Sheldon lives on Milwaukee avenue.

Requests for blocks of five and ten tickets and in one case a request for twenty seats came to Peter V. Kuhn, club secretary, this morning from a group of local merchants. The early demand for the pastebards and the spirit of numerous business men who will take the tickets on bloc, is indicative that the club's finances will be buoyed up considerably. This is necessary. Attendance to the home games has been poor and on the road the club has been losing between $75 and $100 a game.

The Cards at the present time are the best bet in the league. A team which can win from the leading Wisconsin Goshings is a winner, and one which needs support. Eberts' team did it every time they met the leaders, and the best of it was the victories were on Waterstown's own turf. Torkleson is a corner of the team from the form he showed at Whitewater last week he is a candidate for the majors. It would not be surprising if he would be called. "Red" aspires to the American league and that the Cardinals are going to win.

Plans for a series of five or seven games with the Beloit Fairies are being arranged. Aside from an understanding between the two clubs, Eberts, Kuhn and William P. Langdon, and the manager of the Fairies, there is no definite date set, although it is possible that the teams will meet sometime after the end of the scheduled season in their respective leagues.

The first open date the Cardinals have is Sept. 23. The Central State schedule terminates on the 19th.

CICOTTE RIPENS AS
HE AGES; ONLY 33

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Age is making Eddie Cicotte more successful. The little Chicago knuckle ball twirler whose great work on the mound this season has kept Comiskey's "hit Sox" in the pennant race has become the talk of the league.

Cicotte is 33 years old and is just beginning to have his most remarkable success as a pitcher. Eddie owes much of his success to a new ball which he has mastered. It is known as the "shine ball." He also has wonderful control over his famous "knuckle ball." He uses his head with each batsman. He can throw a beautiful splitter, and with this assortment and a "slow" ball he wins many a game.

When Cicotte went to Detroit several years ago he was found wanting and sent back. Cicotte was a graduate of the same club that Ty Cobb came from. Cobb went to Detroit the same year. Cicotte returned to the American league in 1915 as a member of the Boston Americans. Eddie missed participation in the world's series of 1912 by a narrow margin, because he was considered ineligible to the Chicago Americans when it was thought his pitching days were over.

LAJOIE MAY AGAIN
BE BIG LEAGUER

Nap Lajoie's success as a manager in the International league and the recovery of his batting eye are at least certain to drag the veteran back into the big leagues.

Several clubs are known to have approached the baseball powers with a view to getting Lajoie, and at least one club has made him a tentative offer to manage it next year.

Lajoie is satisfied with his lot in Toronto. He is well liked there. His team has been in the pennant fight all the way, and the club has been prosperous. Hence he isn't figuring very heavily on leaving. The amount of money offered for his work as a big leaguer, however, is expected to have its effect. And there are clubs who are ready to put up a big price for the Frenchman's services.

Toronto is especially in baseball circles to have an American league club before many seasons pass. In fact, it is confidently expected the transfer will be made this winter. If Lajoie could be given the management of this aggregation, or even if he were given a berth as a player, he probably would be satisfied. It may come to pass that such an arrangement could be made.

MILITARY TRAINING.

Frank G. Logan, one of the warmest advocates of universal military training, writes most entertainingly
on the subject of universal military training. Evidently Mr. Logan has not been selected as one of the various exemption boards, for he is and hence unable to discover how the average young man of military age feels on this question. However the question is one this country will have to face in the immediate future and consequently what Mr. Logan says is most interesting. He writes:

"I am glad to see that the subject of universal military training is being discussed throughout the land. If the government has the foresight to take up systematically as a normalized policy the training of young men to the point where they can quickly become effective defenders of the country, it will not only be invaluable to those taking it, but it will be the best insurance for our future safety."
Writers and speakers upon this subject do not, in my opinion, give sufficient emphasis to the benefit the young man will receive from this training. To my mind this is quite as important, if indeed it is not the most important, for such training. If one needs an ocular demonstration of what military training does for young men, let him note the fine physique of the boys in khaki upon the streets
today and compare them with the other boys, or note the change that has taken place in the few months of rigorous discipline on the Mexican border, among the boys who know young men who have been training will not only have a fine physique, better posture, larger lung power, a capacity to endure greater physical exertion without exhaustion, but he will be able to throw off disease, but it will clarify his thinking—it will make him more alert, quick to decide, prompt to act;
he will be a better employee, will be able to earn more money, will be better able to direct and supervise
men, and will add in a hundred ways
to his mental, moral and physical equipment.

"Thousands of parents are sending their boys to military schools; they have been doing so for years, not withstanding it is expensive, and tens of thousands more parents would be glad to do this if they could afford it.
The purpose was not training for war,
—no one thought of that. It was training for better life work. Six months or a year in a federal training camp
will do more to make a boy strong,
healthy, manly and a good citizen
than any other time or money that could be expended. The bringing together of boys from all walks of life
and all parts of the country and establishing the democracy of the "dog tent," will establish the lines of democracy that are appearing in our civil life and help to make democracy a reality
instead of a sentiment."

"Let us hope that one of the things
we learn in the great crisis before us is the value of trained men and that we will have the judgment and foresight to make such training a permanent policy of the government. It will do more to engender national pride and loyalty than any other thing. If there was not such thing as war, the rigid discipline and the splendid training and development acquired, would more than justify the cost. The greatest asset of our country is its citizenship and the government has a duty in the premises. Every citizen should insist that congress immediately, upon reassembling in December, make a permanent provision for the training of young men between eighteen and twenty years of age along the lines
worked out in the Chamberlain bill,
and if the people throughout the country would take hold of this matter and insist upon it, such a law could be quickly put upon the statute books."

GERMANY'S DEFENSE.

Students of the international situation will have noticed that in the varying utterances of the Kaiser and his mouthpieces one assertion is constantly repeated. It does not matter whether the declaration is the usual imperial bombast, whether it is a boast or a threat, it drives its victim from one indispensable phrase, and wherever that occurs, the statement
may be dismissed as intended for home consumption.

This claim is that Germany is fighting a defensive war. And all its apalling errors of judgment, the Kaiser has been able to see that on this assumption alone can the people of Germany be held solidly behind the war machine. When the assumption is couched by men of independent mind and honest purpose, like Harden or Lichnecht, they are promptly abandoned. At all hazards this belief must prevail, and we may be sure that it is the last claim which the Junker party will surrender.

It is true that the offensive in war is the best defense. Our own defense against the German threat is made,
not on our coasts, but on the French fighting front. To the British navy the defensive frontier is the enemy's ports. From a military point of view
the German invasion of Belgium, France and Serbia can in this way be called defensive. But Germany is not,
even now, fighting a defensive war;
and has only made a serious claim to be doing so, when it became obvious that the original purposes of the greatest war of aggression in modern times could not be attained.

At no time has Germany's integrity been threatened, whatever may be the ultimate fate of her conquered colonies.
No statesman of the allies has proposed the dismemberment of Germany unless the just recession of Alsace-Lorraine can be regarded as such.
So far as the German people are concerned, they will hold their country
after the war in the same form which existed in 1914. The powers arrayed against Germany can propose other means of settlement than the annexation of German territory. They would not, in fact, know what to do with such conquered provinces.

When the German people realize No common talent can compose

this fact, peace will be measurably nearer. But so long as they can be made to believe the claim which constitutes the only excuse for further slaughter, the lesson of the war has not been learned, and there can be no
peace which is not the interest armistice. The essence of all the peace proposals of Germany and her sympathizers is this idea of a truce which shall enable her to bind up her wounds, store provisions for her people, and prepare for a resumption of the campaign with many of the advantages of which the allies have successfully deprived her.

Missionary effort for peace is wasted here. To bring results it should all be directed to the enlightenment of the German people.

THE HARVEST.

If we may judge anything by present conditions this section of the state will have a most wonderful harvest.
The grain yield is unusually heavy
and the hay crop was most wonderful.
Corn has gone ahead and tobacco and sugar beets, while they need rain, still will make a fair harvest when matured. One always hears the wails of the average farmer just now that the country is burning up, but look back and remember a similar wail that went up in the spring that we had too much rain and too much cold weather and yet we have garnered a good portion of our harvest. This is a war period and we must have good sized crops if we are to meet with the needs of our allies across the water,
aside from serving our people at home.
The government reports show
that there is an unusual yield the nation over and now the work of preparing for the next harvest has begun.
Meetings are being held urging the planting of even greater acreage of grains and corn and staple crops in 1918 than were planted in 1917. This will mean less work next spring and the farmers will be able to procure their seed without having to wait until the eleventh hour to do so. The extra acreage of spring wheat in Rock county has proven its value and also the fact that wheat will grow here to an advantage. Rye and barley are also needed in quantities and other grains can be grown to advantage.
While Rock county has long been known as a tobacco growing center,
the center of the million dollar sugar
beet district and more recently, as the home of fine dairy and beef stock,
it is now producing quality and quantity. It has now attracted the attention of agriculturalists by its grain harvests and next year will see even more land put under the plow. The gardeners have given their yield and paid for the time and labor expended and plans for next year's ventures, it is safe to say have already been put forward. Taking it all in all the harvest of this year is practically assured
and a decided success. Now for Nineteen Eighteen.

Czar Nicholas is on his way to Sil-beria, they say. The question is, will he be able to escape and come to America and lecture on the terrible punishment meted out to political prisoners. Let us hope this country will be spared this horror at least.
The war is sad enough, but there are some things even worse than carnage and bloodshed.

Josephus still insists he is mightier
than the American public and meanwhile the sailors are without needed articles that the women and young people of this country are most anxious to supply them with if they could.
Some day like Humpty Dumpty, Josephus will have a great fall.

The traffic accommodations of the railroads are already being taxed to their capacity by the movement of grains, food supplies and fuel, let alone troops, and yet the railroads are overburdened with taxes and La Follette would add more if he could.

There may be no shortage of arms and equipment for the soldiers, but the question remains unanswered:
Why have not all the guards who are now in service been supplied before this if we are to believe the war department's statements?

Silly Josephus sat on a wall,
Silly Josephus had a great fall.
All Woodrow's horses and all Wood-row's men
Could not put Josephus together again.

The new American army within the next three months will be using French words to designate military maneuvers as though to the manner
born.

There were a lot of new laws passed by that last legislature that will take years to figure out the need for.

No doubt he was proud as could be,
No doubt he was pleased with the glee,

Yet though his inventions made
odds of kale,
And though it's a neat little stunt,
We have these darn envelopes found
in our mail
With isinglass holes in the front!

At times there are days that are balmy and clear
And one for awhile we forget,
At times we're amazed that a day
can appear
All free of a worry or fret,
No aches to beset us, no ailments
to hunt,
Why then must a letter appear in our mail
With an isinglass hole in the front?

A blight on a man who invented
the some,
How often we've suffered in reading our name
Through that neat little isinglass
hole!

And if we could find him he'd tremble and quail
We'd tan him, the mean little

Whenever a letter is found in our mail
With an isinglass hole in the
front.

Convention.
It gets to be an awful bore
To do the things we've done before,
To walk sedately down the street
And nod and bow to those we meet,
To wear a suit, some shoes, a hat,
A shirt, a collar and cravat,
And spend all our days as such,
The things we've always done so much.

Think what a circus it would be Should people everywhere agree to paint their noses green and wear
Some honey-suckle in their hair
And never work but stand about,
In little groups and merely shout,
Or if that failed to quite beguile,
To hug each other for a while.
Life often has its pleasant phase,
But they would brighten up our days
And give to life and added zest,
These little things that we suggest.
It gets to be an awful bore
To do the things we've done before.

SHOWS DEFECTS IN THE WAR TAX BILL NOW UNDER DEBATE

M. G. Jeffris' Letter to Senator Bankhead Published as Part of the Congressional Record.

In the issue of the Congressional Record of August 18th, a letter written by M. G. Jeffris of this city to United States Senator Bankhead related to some of the amendments and provisions of the war tax measure which is now being discussed in the senate, is published as part of the senate proceedings for the day. Mr.
Jeffris points out clearly serious objections to the measure as it now stands and suggests changes. His letter, as taken from the Record, is as follows:

The letter referred to is as follows:
Janesville, Wis., August 13, 1917.
Hon. John H. Bankhead, U. S. Senate,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir: I write in reference to the tax bill now pending in Congress and particularly relating to the subject of the tax on excess profits of corporations. I desire to call your attention to a condition which I believe will result disastrously to a large number of comparatively small corporations throughout the country
in a very heavy tax levy there is danger to corporations throughout the country. In a very heavy tax levy there is danger to corporations which are not in a financial position to withstand the shock. Too great a burden on current business should not be laid. A burden that may destroy business if laid on at one time
may be borne if imposed by degrees.

In the present Senate bill it is proposed to tax the so-called excess profits of corporations earned in 1917 substantially 50 per cent in many cases. It is proposed to use as a basis for normal income the years 1911, 1912 and 1913 or at the option of the corporation, 6 per cent on the capital invested. I call your attention to a concrete case as an illustration of how this is going to work out with a large number of corporations.
The one to which I refer is a very limited capital, it lost money in 1911, 1912, and 1913, but the people back of it proposed to save the corporation and went into their pockets or backed the credit of the corporation. In 1917, 1918, and 1919, at the option of the business became profitable. The concern to which I refer manufactures some household articles. It is as far removed from any munition feature as anything you could conceive of.
The profits they are making this year
are being used to pay up the indebt-ness created heretofore. The books of this company will show the business this year has been a success. It is determining just what the profits going to be, but they may run into the neighborhood of $25,000. As fast as earned, they are being paid to the stockholders. This is a small corporation, largely on borrowed money. It is impossible to figure just what the tax would be, but according to the proposed schedule contained in that bill, their tax would be not less than $25,000. If that tax is imposed it would throw that particular company into the hands of a receiver because it is not in a position to go out and borrow money to pay the tax. A blow like this would not be in a position to raise the money to pay what appears by its books to have been its annual profit. There is a vast difference between money profits deposited in a bank and paper profits which merely show upon the books of a corporation. I predict financial disaster to a large number of people unless Congress finds some way to recognize the difference between actual money profits
and paper profits which of necessity must remain in the business. The proposed plan has in it the elements that may bring financial disaster to thousands just because they are not in a four-handed financial position.

One more illustration of an actual case, with figures as nearly correct as can be stated at this time: A business started since 1910. The average profits for 1911, 1912, and 1913 about $5,000. This year probable profits

$55,000. Excess, $50,000. The excess tax would amount to $22,957.50, to which is added an income tax of 6 per cent, or $3,300, making a total tax of $26,157.50. These profits, as every business man realizes, are not in money. Some of it has gone into reducing indebtedness, some into plant,
some into increased inventory, made necessary by the expanding business,
and probably the entire balance into accounts receivable, owing to expanding business. Probably the cash balance carried by this company is not much. If any, larger than ever. If this company were compelled to pay
this tax, it would be permanently tied up in taxes. At one time it would require a liquidation of its business and probably under force through a receiver. It would have been better for this company, not to have made more than a normal profit, because in that event it could at least remain solvent. This company has never paid a dividend, and can not this year, regardless of the tax, as the profits will be permanently tied up in business. This is another case of paper or book profit. This company might be able to declare a stock dividend, which would cost it nothing
and would not increase its obligations,
but still not be in a position to pay any cash dividend whatever, because the financing of a business is sometimes its most delicate operation. Give these companies a chance to get their breath before you throw onto them a burden they are unable to bear. The proposed tax will injure a multitude of individuals and in the end will be detrimental to the whole country.

Respectfully, yours,
M. G. JEFFRIS.

ed trade generally have they in any-wise benefited from the war conditions.

Theoretically it may sound well enough to place taxes upon a percentage basis, but any percentage to small struggling corporations or individuals may mean a very different thing from what the same percentage means to prosperous corporations or individuals. It may mean ruin to one or an embarrassment to the other. It and only a curtailment of dividends seems to me that Congress should take this into consideration. Let Congress put a straight tax of 10 per cent
on corporate profits up to $100,000
and then go on to a percentage basis.
It still would permit them to remain solvent. The severity of an injury is determined sometimes by the capacity of the injured to receive it. A blow

In Mourning For Tigers.
The Moss-Arol, otherwise known in Darrang as Baghi-Arol, the tiger folk,
a subtribe of the Bura race, still regard it as the correct thing to go into mourning for twenty-four hours whenever a tiger dies near their village. Solid food is tabooed. Then at the end of the fast there must be a general cleanup,
the floors and walls being smeared
with a mud, clothes and brazen utensils being thoroughly cleansed in running water and earthenware vessels that have been used at all being actually broken and thrown away. Lastly, santi-jal, "the water of peace," is

fowl or pig eaten by all the clansmen
in common.

Quicksands.
Quicksands have a horrible fascination for writers and readers of fiction, and the reality is every bit as bad as fancy paints it. One of the most remarkable quicksand accidents occurred years ago in New Zealand. Two prospectors were wading across the mouth of a small stream running into the sea
in the north island of New Zealand.
Both stepped into the quicksand. One who merely touched the edge of it got loose. The other sank rapidly and, in spite of his companion's efforts, was sucked under. When an attempt was made to recover the body it was found that the sand was enormously rich in gold. From a single ton of it $1,500 worth of gold was washed.

A peculiar sensitiveness to lightning has been noted in fishes. In several cases trout and other fishes in tanks
and pools have died from the effects of lightning, which, however, was a considerable distance away.

MRS. SHARP HEADS NEW RELIEF CORPS

Mrs. W. G. Sharp.

The women's war relief corps in France has been organized under the authority of the American Red Cross to give the American women in France an opportunity to become a part of the great army of relief workers. The officers are: General director, Mrs. William G. Sharp; executive committee, Mrs. Robert W. Bliss, wife of the counselor of the embassy; Mrs. Edward Tuck and Ralph Preston; secretary, Mrs. George B. Ford; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Scott.

NAVY LEAGUE PLANS TO CONTINUE WORK DESPITE DISMISSAL

Local Society Receives Telegram Stating Secretary of Navy Cannot Bar Gifts to Men in Service.

That the officers of the Navy League are not going to receive calmly their dismissal at the hands of the Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels is indicated by the following telegram received recently by H. S. Lovejoy: Washington, D. C., Aug. 18, 1917. "Henry S. Lovejoy, Wis."

"The secretary of the navy cannot legally prohibit men of the service from accepting patriotic gifts from patriotic people, and we ask you to continue your work as usual."

"NAVY LEAGUE." It will be remembered that owing to criticism of his department by members of the Navy League, Mr. Daniels promulgated an order on last week refusing to accept any contributions for the navy turned in by the Navy League. (The officials of the league are influential and prominent people who have worked untiringly to interest the public in this work. It is now well started and under way.)

The chairman of the local organization, Mrs. Arthur Harris, when seen this morning said that the local branch will continue its work with unabated vigor. There has been a new ruling sent to the Navy League whereby new members can be taken in for a fee of $1 each of which is to go to the local society to buy supplies of yarns. This was a new move to many who will like to contribute their mite in this way.

Twenty articles have been turned in for the crew of the submarine C-23, and now work is being done on an outfit for the Vulcan whose force is seventy men. There are probably over 100 articles in process of manufacture by the force of busy knitters now at work and these include helmets, wristlets, scarves and sweaters. A campaign for increased membership will be begun soon and undoubtedly increased activity will result. An exhibit of local work will also be included in the Red Cross exhibit of next week.

BELOIT POLICE GET LOCAL HORSE THIEF

Beet Sugar Plant Employee, Intoxicated, Steals La Prairie Farm-are's Horse and Buggy.

Charles Smith, Canton, Ohio, a beet sugar factory employee for the past eight days was arrested at Beloit this morning and this morning was served with a warrant charging him with being a horse thief. Smith was taken by the line city police after the Janesville police secured the city and surrounding country nearly all yesterday afternoon for the person who took the horse and rig of William Morton a farmer living near Dodge street.

Smith was to be brought into municipal court this afternoon to face charges of larceny. Morton of Beloit is that Smith was intoxicated and asleep in the rig when arrested. It is figured that he purloined the horse while mentally unbalanced from liquor.

SECOND COMPLAINT STIRS IRE OF CHIEF CHAMPION

After being arraigned in the municipal court Tuesday as the keeper of a disorderly house, Mrs. William Wetzel, who resides on Park street, pleaded not guilty and her hearing was set for Tuesday, August 28th. Last night complaints reached the police department that the suspected house was the scene of much merriment and unusual hilarity and officers were sent to investigate. When this morning the complaint was made to Chief Champion and that no one was taken in custody in consequence, he was very angry and insisted that the occupants of the house should have been brought to the police station. It is probable that several of Mrs. Wetzel's neighbors will be summoned to testify when the case is called.

Mrs. Eutha Jacobs and daughter of Aurora, Mo., are visiting at the home of their mother and aunt, Mrs. A. C. Swift, of Dodge street.

F. H. Kneff of Waupun, Wis., is a business visitor in town for a few days.

Mr. C. C. Carr of Milton is the guest of friends for the week in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Comstock and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Harrington of Albany, are spending the circus in town on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Dixon and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Collier of the town of Rock were greeting their many friends at the Barnum & Bailey circus yesterday.

Mrs. George Scholes of Chicago was the guest on Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. William Lawyer of the Peters house.

Richard Thurman of Albany spent the day with Janesville friends on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson and son and daughter of Beloit came up yesterday and attended the circus.

Colonel George Hall and daughter, from Evansville, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Manning of Milton avenue on Tuesday.

Helen and Genevieve Farrington of Leyden are spending the week visiting their cousin, Miss Mary Cullen, of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Heider of Dayton, Iowa, are visiting different relatives this week in Janesville.

Mrs. E. W. Boyles and Harry Kelly were the guests of Janesville relatives for the past few days. They returned yesterday to their home in Brodhead.

William Ellert and family had for their guests this week Mr. and Mrs. A. Lowenbach of Milwaukee, who are making a trip in Wisconsin by automobile.

Philip Whitehead is home from Fort Sheridan for a short furlough.

Mrs. Sherwood Sheldon of Fairbault, Minn., will visit friends and relatives in this city for several days.

Harry McKinley came down from Koshkonong to attend the circus.

SCHOOL BOARD MAY DELAY OPENING OF CITY HIGH SCHOOL

Matter Has Been Put up to Some Members and Has Met With Approval—Would Aid Crop Production.

If plans of S. M. Smith, president of the board of education, materialize and the board gives its approval, the high school will not be opened on September 4th, a originally planned, but will start the school year either in October or November, thus permitting the many members of the student body who are engaged in agricultural work to stay on the farms until the bulk of the harvesting has been completed. Such a course has been adopted by many of the schools throughout the state, and has found favor in several Rock county communities.

Thus far, no definite action has been taken by the board, but Mr. Smith has been in touch with some of the members who have been heartily in favor of the plan. No meeting of the board is scheduled until September, but if the members of the plan individually, it will be put up to Superintendent H. H. Faust and further steps to postpone the opening of school taken.

The plan to be followed out, the time missed would be made up by all probability by shortening the Christmas vacation. Many educators feel that there is no real need for a vacation of two weeks at Christmas time, and the postponement of the opening of school in this time of national emergency would mean much in adding to the production of food in the county.

There has been some shortage of labor on the farms, and to have a large number of boys from their farm work the first week in September is regarded by many as being a distinct disadvantage to the harvesting of bumper crops.

More definite announcement of the opening of school will be made within a few days.

There has been a rumor about the city that the teaching of German in the city schools was to be suspended and French substituted, no actions along this line have been taken by the school board and no such change is contemplated by Superintendent Faust. Mr. Smith suggested this revision of the high school curriculum some months ago, but it met with little response from the board, and nothing further has been done since that time. Many people feel that the importance of at least a knowledge of French is considerable and that the time has been aroused over the ousting of German from the school courses, and that the school board is now becoming evident. Many of the larger colleges and universities require a groundwork in French for admittance, and this has long been a distant drawback at the local school.

GOVERNOR SUSPENDS DISLOYAL OFFICIALS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 22.—Acting on recommendation of the Minnesota public safety commission, Governor A. B. Benson today suspended three public officers of New Ulm, a city in southern Minnesota, pending investigation of charges of disloyalty.

The suspended officers are J. J. Julius of Brown county for service.

MONTANA FORESTS SWEEP BY FLAMES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] Missoula, Mont., Aug. 22.—United States forest rangers said today that they were facing the worst fire situation that has arisen in western Montana and Idaho, since the district was swept by a general conflagration in 1910. A rapidly growing forest of fir, spruce and pine, which has been under control by a gale, a large fire near Seeley Lake, is spreading.

Fires just across the state line in Idaho, have been surrounded by fire lines, and will be restricted unless another gale should arise.

STATE HORTICULTURISTS IN SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] Oshkosh, Aug. 22.—The Wisconsin horticultural society opened its semi-annual session today in this city with about 100 members present. The day was devoted to the study of "gardens," and this afternoon to technical addresses on the care of trees and fruit. Tomorrow the visitors will inspect model gardens in Winnebago county and in the afternoon will be given a boat ride with a picnic supper.

SOCIALIST HELD ON ESPIONAGE CHARGE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] Chicago, Aug. 22.—Adolph Germer, secretary of the National Socialist party, charged with violating the espionage laws, was arraigned before Judge Carpenter in the United District court here today.

Seymour Stedman, a prominent socialist attorney, represented Germer. He testified Germer among other things said that two billion dollars have been expended in the war, and that the expenditure of the public knows about is in purchase of about 200,000 coffins to be sent to France.

The statement is alleged to have been made before the "America Liberty Defense League."

Notice: The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. Louden, 117 North High street, Thursday, Aug. 23 at three o'clock sharp. This is the annual election of officers and delegates to the county convention. It is important that all members be present. Mrs. A. W. Horwood, secretary.

DON'T PERMIT MINOR CARRY YOUR BOTTLE; RIVER ST. EXPOSED

Costs Stoughton Youth $5 For Giving Lad Bottle to Carry—River Street Investigator Arrests Him—Self.

Another tip emitted from municipal court this morning. It is: If you have a "bottle" don't give it to a minor to tote.

Leo Carl Stoughton, 17, of River street, did not get off the hook for giving a five dollar bottle for the drayage. Otto gave it to Leo Johnson, another wagonmaker, who is but a teen-teen, and he was arrested for the same reason and he did Johnson toted it to municipal court this morning.

Stimmer first drew a fine of ten dollars and costs or fifteen days, but when Johnson faced the bar and judge Carl questioned results in the information that he was but nineteen the court wanted to know where he got the liquor. Then Johnson told him Stimmer, twenty-three, purchased but because the latter had not the money to pay for the bottle, he had given it to Johnson toted it in his inside pocket.

The judge politely informed Stimmer the $10 was to be set aside and five dollars added because he gave the bottle to Johnson.

The man who discovered the reason of what caused all the trouble on River street was in court this morning. He arrested himself. He was James Clough, a houseman who lives on the street of trouble.

James showed up yesterday at the police station and startled Sergeant William Gower with the statement that he wanted to be locked up.

"Locked up?" exclaimed the officer. (Not many make that request). "What for?"

"I'm drunk," said Jim.

"All right," can accommodate you, and into the bull pen he went. It cost James fifteen days liberty or a fine of ten and costs.

Jim is a queer duck anyway. Sunday he marched into the station with a beer glass on his shoulder. He was all excited.

"Here it is here. Here it is here. I've got the evidence," he shouted to Gower.

At the top of the funny paper the officer came to a police department attention and exclaimed, "What evidence. What you doing with that beer keg?"

"It's empty," I got it though that's what causes all the trouble on River street."

And for the next hour Gower had an enforced entertainment as to the trials and troubles of River street and booze.

SECOND DRAFT SET FOR JANUARY 1ST

Washington, Aug. 22.—January 1 has been tentatively set for the second draft; the number of men to be drafted will be approximately 750,000.

With an army of more than 1,200,000 assured, the government is devoting its entire attention to transporting the men already enrolled or drafted to France. The principal problem is being met with much success. After a certain period, the length of which must remain a secret, there will be a constant and uninterrupted flow of American troops and supplies overseas.

Equipment in Short. Equipment problems have taken on another aspect, however. The army experienced difficulty in outfitting even the national guard when it was drafted into federal service and the coming in of the draft forces will drain the last uniform and rifle.

As the situation stands at present, there not only is no equipment for the men, should they be called immediately, but there are no camps and no officers to train them.

Before the second draft can be ordered, the men who go into the reserve officers' training camps on August 27 will have to be trained and commissioned. That will take until December. It will require at least four months to replenish the depleted army stores.

Use French Artillery. The American army will have to depend on the French artillery supply for probably nine months, perhaps a year, until the time when the new field guns, for which contracts have been let and for which Congress is asked to appropriate hundreds of millions under the heading "coast defense," will commence to come.

America is rushing airplane construction, but it will be six months before she will begin to assume the part out of her in the air. It was pointed out today that not alone do the guns and airplanes have to be built and tested, but have to be carried overseas.

FRUSTRATE ATTEMPT TO BREAK IN BANK

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] Soldiers Grove, Wis., Aug. 22.—Ivan Peterson, local hotel man, frustrated an attempt to rob the bank at Soldiers Grove here early Tuesday morning when he fired a revolver at two strangers he saw trying to effect an entrance through the rear window. The men were not hit and escaped.

LIMA

Lima, Aug. 22.—Miss Jessie Stillman and Mrs. M. F. Gould spent over Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Hudson in Janesville.

Miss Petersons and family now occupy their new home.

Mable and Harold Freeman left on Tuesday for their home in Dakota, after spending a couple of months with relatives here.

The usual number attended the Barnum & Bailey circus in Janesville on Tuesday.

Mrs. Belle Collins and Miss Addie Smith were in Milwaukee Wednesday.

W. C. Aldrich of Milton spent Tuesday in Lima.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Reese and Harry and Alice Teeshorn were at Turtle Lake Sunday afternoon.

The W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. W. E. Boyd on Friday afternoon. Mesdames Anderson, Greenwood, Dickerson and Sherman of Edgerton were present.

C. A. Anderson and family have been entertaining relatives from Missouri.

Judgment: Judgment in favor of Edwin Brown for the sum of $35.10 and costs was awarded in Justice Kavalek's court this morning in a garnishment action against J. W. Cheeseman and Donald Jeffrey, employees of the Janesville Sand and Gravel company.

Digging Gold In Wisconsin

A few days ago an old man who tends the gates at a dangerous railroad crossing was seen with a pick and shovel, digging near his little hut by the gates.

All day long the old man worked. He grew excited at last and would not answer the questions of his neighbors who thought he had lost his mind.

Finally, when he had no more strength left, he sent for a friend and told him that he had about $500 buried in an old tin can there by the track, but that he had lost the spot—his life-savings were gone.

The next day he rushed to the bank after friends had located his money and told where it was. It will be safe and earning more money for him.

If the old man had deposited his gold in a good old bank like the Rock County Savings & Trust Company, it would have nearly doubled his wealth. Compound interest, and absolute safety make the savings account attractive to every one. And in case of sudden death, the money goes to those who should receive it.

ED. LENZ, 19, HELD AS WHITE SLAYER; LOCAL GIRL CAUSE

Young Janesville Man in Hands of Federal Authorities—Claim He Took Girl Into Illinois.

Nineteen year old Ed. Lenz faces Mann Act charges of transporting nineteen year old Marie McElroy, a Bell telephone exchange operator, to Illinois for immoral purposes. Lenz has liberty on bonds of $1,000 justified in the sum of $2,000 surety by his father, William Lenz.

The federal authorities' dipping in is another link in the chain of evidence against the youth to present himself against future eventualities. Under the complaint which she made to Judge Maxfield and the warrant he issued, Lenz was arrested and the case is still pending, held open according to decreed procedure.

The matter was brought to the attention of United States Attorney A. J. Wolfe at the federal offices at Madison, and according to the complaint submitted to United States Court Commissioner Stanley D. Tallman of this city, it alleged that on Nov. 28, 1916, at Janesville, unlawfully, knowingly and feloniously transported the girl from this city to Aurora, Ill., on a common carrier for immoral purposes.

On the strength of the United States attorney's complaint, Fred W. French of Madison, a federal court commissioner, issued a warrant for the arrest of Lenz. He was taken in custody here by William Tustan, a United States deputy marshal, and immediately brought before Commissioner Tallman.

Lenz demanded an examination. It was set for a week from Friday, August 31.

CONSCRIPTION ISSUE SPLITS CANADA; BIG ELECTION THIS FALL

Note—Following is the first of a series of three stories on the political and military situation in Canada.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Ottawa, Can., Aug. 22.—Canada is facing its first crisis since the opening of the European war.
A general election is to be called by Premier Borden within the next few weeks for early in the fall. The life of the present conservative government expires on Oct. 7. This will be the first opportunity the people of Canada have had to pass upon the war policies of the Borden government since the dominion plunged into the great conflict.

The government has been split wide open on the issue of conscription. British Canada, generally speaking, supports conscription. French Canada is almost solidly opposed. The bitterest and most exciting political campaign in dominion history is in prospect. Upon the result depends the continuance in power of the present conservative government and the enforcement of the compulsory military service act.

Leading the liberal opposition is Sir Wilfrid Laurier, ex-premier and the idol of the French-Canadians of the province of Quebec. A brilliant speaker and a masterly politician, Laurier is bent on every effort to bring to his standard all the elements in Canada disaffected with the Borden regime.

Already, however, he has had to face the refusal of twenty-two on French-Canadian liberals in the house from Ontario and the western provinces to follow him in his anti-conscription battle. What strength those conscriptionist liberal party bolters can take with them to the polls has become one of the big question marks of the campaign. In his answer may lie the final decision. On the part of the conservatives they have had to face minor but very significant desertions from French-Canadian conservatives.

Canada has 406,000 enlisted men. Her overseas force is made up of five divisions. Four of these are in France and one is held in England as a reserve division. Since the desperate, bloody day at Vimy ridge heavy drafts have been made on this reserve. Canada must provide more men or soon dominion troops will be left without reserves. This would mean the elimination of Canada as a fighting factor at the front. Canada must raise 100,000 more men and do it quick.

Voluntary recruiting is a thing of the past. Canada has no great wealth of man power. Eight million people is her top. Already the 400,000 men who so freely gave themselves to ser-

Edna Goodrich will soon flash on the screen world in four new plays, respectively entitled "Reputation," "Queen X," "A Daughter of Maryland" and "American Maid." Her managers have many good things to say about these plays. "Queen X" is by Assistant United States District Attorney Edwin M. Stanton of New York, who led the sensational federal crusade against smugglers and was instrumental in stamping out the criminal conspiracy centering in the Chinese settlements of New York. "Reputation" glorifies the American girl, and "A Daughter of Maryland" is a play with a southern heroine who does wonderful things in great emergencies and proves herself equal to every crisis.

Miss Goodrich is known as one of the wealthiest women of the stage in London and has suburban places in Italy and England. She was educated in Chicago and is a graduate of the Hyde Park high school of that city.

REALISM

The director of "For France" at the studio in Brooklyn, expressed himself as well satisfied with the "punch" put into a fight in one of the scenes. He might well be, in the opinion of the principals. Here are the casualties:

Edward Earle—Unconscious five minutes; lacerated elbow; bruises all over.
E. O. von Stroheim—Cheek cut open; black eye; broken nose.
Earle says they did not get nasty, but with the director yelling to make the scene realistic and a lot of on-lookers yelling advice, he admits they might have got excited.

MAYBE IT'S BOTH, GALE

Gale Fuller, who makes up as a spinster in comedies, announced at the studio the other day that she had received a proposal by mail from a wealthy man in Cincinnati. Miss Fuller doesn't intend to take him up on the proposal, but she is wondering if he came in possession of a photo of her "in" or was bewitched by her screen self. "Either he's crazy or my make-up is bad," declares Miss Fuller.

It wouldn't surprise anyone who knows Harry Millarde, June Caprice's new director, if the motion picture "extra" should buy him a vice have seriously tightened the labor market in places. Farmers are in straits for help. In many cities clerks and municipal employees are given half holidays from their regular employment in order that they may go into the fields. This shortage is emphasized by the anti-conscriptionists. Conservatives declare there are hundreds of "sackers" in the cities who could be spared and assert that these are the men they want to get to under the law.

Intricate as is this problem alone, it is intermixed with the racial question, an alien enemy tangle, a tremendously difficult financial situation, involving the nationalization of 1,000 miles of railroad and millions of dollars in advances to others, and a line of heavy but still virulent political animosities, which stirred together offer the Canadian voter a political salad unlike anything previous in his entire political experience.

The next few weeks will see stirring times across the border.

Edgerton News

Edgerton, Aug. 22.—A miscellaneous shower was given at the home of Miss Helen Coon on Rollin street last evening in honor of Miss Nellie Bentley, who is soon to become a bride. A six o'clock luncheon was served to the guests and Miss Bentley was the recipient of many useful presents from her friends. The out-of-town guests were Miss Beulah Heddies of Madison and Mrs. Earle Langworthy of Milwaukee.

Mrs. B. L. Cleary entertained yesterday at a one o'clock luncheon for Mrs. C. L. Cullon, who is visiting here from Florida, and for Mrs. C. E. of Chicago, who is a guest at the Con-way home. The afternoon was spent at bridge.

Miss Leo Thompson entertained at breakfast this morning for her friend, Miss Lucile Cullon.

CIRCUS WAS FINEST EVER SEEN IN CITY

More and Better Attractions Mark Barnum and Bailey Show—Loss of Men Delays Parade.

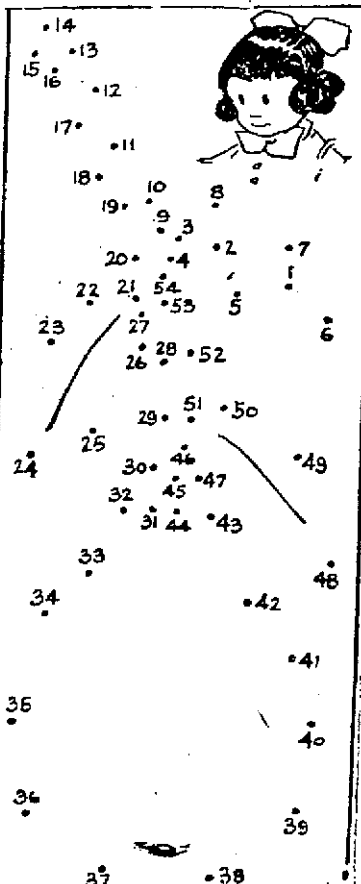

The circus has come and gone, taking with it the praise of all Janesville. In the belief of many it was the finest circus that has ever visited the city. More originally marked the features, more people took part in the parade than in any other. The stunts newer and funnier. From the grand triumphal entry to the closing races there was not an instant when something was not going on. Many new things were seen; if the acrobats and aerial tumbler were the same, they had evolved new tricks, the Japs were more clever, and the trained animals did more difficult things.

One feature which has never been seen in a circus before was the series of tableaux by groups of people and horses, representing marble statues; seven of these groups all working together exhibited a series of poses down the entire length of the great tent.

The afternoon performance was played to a capacity audience, while there were comparatively few vacant seats in the evening. The city was crowded all day long with people from every corner of the neighboring countryside. Many had come in early in the morning to watch the setting-up of the "Big Top" and the preparations for the show.

It is reported that he circus lost nearly four hundred of its employees in Milwaukee, from whence they came to Janesville, due to alleged I. W. W. activity, and as a consequence the show was short-handed. The parade did not get under way until after twelve o'clock; but the crowd was a true circus crowd and contented to wait.

With the Milwaukee street hill well gauged little difficulty was experienced with the big wagons, though shoes were placed on the wheels of the heavier ones to come down the hill. The circus went from here to Rockford.

IGNORANT TO THE END.

Synopsis of preceding chapters: Helen Careback, shy and most beautiful daughter of Anton Flareback, the richest man of moderate means in Higgins' Corners, is as temperamental as she is beautiful. She decides, one day on her way home with rolls from the hardware store, that she will marry the first man she sees with a perfect face and figure. Two blocks later she slips on a banana peeling and finds herself sitting on the sidewalk face to face with Kenneth Innertube, who has slipped on a peeling of his own. It is the man of her dreams! She apologizes for speaking out of leap-year, and asks to become his wife, Kenneth, who has long admired her from afar—his work consists in tightening screws on the summits of telegraph poles—agrees joyfully, and they elope immediately. A strong gale is blowing, and Helen's father gets wind of the affair. He follows them in an aeroplane, but the elopers take refuge in a passing submarine and escape, and are married by a savage priest on a cannibal island in the Ross sea. Not until then does Kenneth reveal the fact that he is already married.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young married woman. In fact I have just started keeping house for myself. Just before marriage we were given a kitchen shower and among the things we got some aluminum sauce pans and an aluminum kettle and a coffee pot. I have been told that aluminum is poisonous and that it is the food poison. I am a little bit worried about it. I am afraid to use these nice things.

(1) Can you tell me if this is so?

(2) If aluminum is poisonous, the food we use is it that all big hotels use aluminum in their kitchens?

(1) It is not so that aluminum is poisonous. Aluminum is the safest and best to use in the kitchen for the very reason that no aluminum compounds are poisonous. Sometimes when you cook foods that have acid in them in aluminum, it colors the aluminum, and sometimes it does the same, but this does not hurt the pan for use and if some of the aluminum is eaten off of the pan it goes into the food. It is not in the food. Aluminum compounds are used to purify water for drinking and cooking. If aluminum is given the same care as the other metals, it is safe. It is not black and dirty looking. People have the idea, however, that aluminum can be handled roughly and will stay nice.

(2) Hotels use aluminum ware because it is safer from poison than tin or other ware and when given attention is easier to keep clean and sanitary.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My mother

has a friend who used to be quite a good friend of ours and all of us children call her auntie, though she is really no relation to us at all. She has a habit of coming to see us and staying till very late. It is quite annoying because my mother works quite hard and we are all tired when we get home at night and we don't feel like entertaining company. I have urged my mother to tell her to go home. She will not do it because she is kind-hearted and doesn't like to hurt anyone's feelings. What do you think I ought to do about it? She would probably do what you advise in your column.

FERRIVINKLE.

There seems to be just one thing to do. She should tell her that you are all tired out and want to go to bed. The woman will then probably leave. If she doesn't leave after you tell her, she isn't the kind of person you should care about having for a friend and you can afford to lose her. It is better to hurt one person's feelings than to keep all of you up late at night, especially if she comes often.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Should girls ever use paint?

(2) Is it harmful to the flesh to use powder?

(3) Should a girl of seventeen go out more than four times a week, or less?

(4) Is it proper for a lady to meet a gentleman at some appointed place or should he call for her at her home?

(5) Should I ask him to be seated if he cannot get ready?

(6) What should I say when we are ready to go?

MISS RUTH V. F.

(1) No.

(2) Powder used after cold cream is all right, other than it dries the skin and makes it rough.

(3) Four times a week is entirely too many.

(4) She should not meet him at an appointed place, but should have him come to her home for her.

(5) Yes.

(6) Say, "I'm ready now."

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

(Miss Hoyt will answer in this paper questions on matters of etiquette addressed to her in care of this paper. If a personal answer is desired enclose a two-cent stamp.)

The place-plates are supposed to stand under the soup plates, and under any course where it is desired to have them. They are often used at desert as well as at the beginning of the meal.

MRS. G.: When you introduce a lady to several people, the usual form is "Mrs. Smith, meet Mrs. Brown," "Miss Jones, meet Mr. Robinson." If on being introduced you fail to catch the name of the other person, it is quite proper to say "Pardon me, but I did not understand the name." In making introductions, names should be taken to speak the name distinctly.

BERNARD: You should not have loaned the umbrella you had borrowed to another person. The borrowed article is very close to stealing, although an astonishing number of respectable people are guilty of it. When you fail to understand a remark made to you, you should say, "I beg your pardon, instead of 'what?'"

CAN YOUR VEGETABLES NOW

The U. S. Department of Agriculture Advises You to Do It This Way.

Wash your jars, wash rubbers; test rubbers for quality. Set empty jars and rubbers in pan of water to heat and keep hot. Fill washbottle to cover jars two inches with water. Heat water in washbottle.

Use only fresh, sound vegetables. Wash your vegetables. Place in a colander, blanch by setting in a vessel of boiling water or steam, covered tight, for from five to ten minutes for beans, one and a half minutes for tomatoes, five minutes for sweet corn and beans. Remove and plunge quickly into cold, clean water momentarily. Remove and pack immediately into hot jars.

Add hot water and seasoning. Fill rubbers and tops of jars in position, not tight. Place jars on false bottom of washbottle. Submerge jars two inches. Put cover on washbottle and let the water boil hard for 120 minutes for beans, twenty-two minutes for tomatoes, 180 minutes for sweet corn and ninety minutes for beans. Start counting when water begins to boil.

Remove jars. Tightly covers. Invert to cool and examine for leaks. If leaks are found, change rubbers and boil for ten minutes. Wrap jars in paper. Store in cool, dry place.

Corn—Remove husk and silk; place cobs in colander or cheesecloth square; blanch by setting in a vessel of boiling water or steam, covered tight, for five to ten minutes; plunge into cold water momentarily; cut the corn from the cob; cut from tip to butt; cook corn for ten minutes.

Tomatoes—Place tomatoes in a colander and steam by setting over a vessel of boiling water, covered tight, for one and one-half minutes; plunge into cold water momentarily; remove skin and core; chop tomatoes into medium-sized pieces.

Mixture—Mix thoroughly two parts of tomatoes with one part of corn; pack in hot glass jars; add a level teaspoonful of salt and little sugar for each quart.

Place rubbers and tops of jars in position, not tight; place jars on false bottom of washbottle; submerge jars two inches; put cover on washbottle; let water boil 180 minutes; start counting when water begins to boil.

Remove jars; make tops air tight; invert jars to change rubbers and boil again ten minutes.

PLAN TRAINING CAMP FOR NEW ARMY BAKER

New York, Aug. 22—Army bakeries for soldiers in training here are to be established at Gettysburg, Pa., Washington, Syracuse, N. Y., and Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., by the quarter-master's department. Later big army bread factories will be placed along American lines of communication in France.

Your "Get-Away Power" in Summer is a matter of fuel-food for the human engine. Food that is hard to digest and low in nutritive value does not supply energy for the day's work. It uses up needed power by overtaxing the digestive organs. Shredded Wheat Biscuit is all food. It is 100 per cent. whole wheat and is prepared in a digestible form. Changing from meat and potatoes to Shredded Wheat brings a mental buoyancy and physical alertness that make one eager for the day's task. Eat it for any meal with sliced bananas, berries, or other fruits. Made at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

REST ROOM A HAVEN FOR TIRED CROWDS

Hundreds Enjoy Its Comfort on Circus Day—Some Accidents Felt—Furniture Is Needed.

There were babies galore in the rest room on circus day, besides many elderly ladies and women of all ages. They came early and they kept coming until the very last of the day. Extra folding chairs were borrowed from the Commercial club rooms next door, to provide seating for the family, consisting of the small children, were cared for in this way, and were made comfortable and happy at small expense. Everyone was welcome to use the tables, whether they purchased anything or not, and all the facilities of the place were for the use of the public, in every way possible.

In fact, the hospitality of the rest room was so great that, as people eating their lunch in automobiles out in front of the place, were supplied with a pitcher of water and glasses to satisfy their thirst. Expressions of satisfaction were heard on every side from the woman-kind, who seemed to appreciate thoroughly having so convenient a place provided for their comfort. There were twenty young ladies who eat their luncheon there regularly, and have a real cozy visiting spell during the noon time hour. A few folding chairs and a couple of water pitchers, and a couple of water pitchers are needed for special occasions.

Many other places beside Jansville were represented by the visitors of yesterday, although many who were in did not register. The following places were noted as having representatives: Footville, Chicago, Johnston, Milton, Milton Junction, Beloit, Richmond, Ill., Evansville, Avalon, Stoughton, Brooklyn, Algona, Ia. and Edgerton.

TROUT AND MEN

We talked it over in the camp, the wisest fish are trout. They seem to know the ways of men and just what they're about. Trout are the only fish that have a speckled beauty like that has resisted splendidly man's rane of cunning flies.

"But some," somebody's going to say, "fish are going to make a fly, that fellow resting there, will surely rush to take."

"There's Martin's trout—we fished for years to take him from his hole. He had been hooked a dozen times, but always broke his way out. We got to know him and his ways, for him made special flies. To bait his greedy neighbors took he never made a fly.

"Then Martin got him. How? you ask. The wisest fish will fall. The day must come when judgment fails. I guess to one and all, Martin kept a trout for trout. Yet never could he make him rise to any gaudy hook."

He seemed to know the costly break, Martin, by chance, tossed over him the kind of fly he'd take.

"How much like fish we mortals are. How oft the tempter tries To lure us to our doom with all his range of dazzling lures, Some take the common run of lures, some strike at gold or fame, Some for a woman's smile will fall, and their dear days shame; Some take the whisky hook to death, but all are born to die. And in the end we too shall take our special kind of fly."

SURE ENOUGH.

Defective Feet

In peace time, as in the present, one of the most frequent causes of rejection of candidates for the army is defective feet. Good sanitation, good food and good feet are the three indispensable needs of good fighting men.

In the physical examination of recruits the surgeon requires the candidate to hop the length of the room on the ball of one foot, then on the foot of the other. If the candidate's foot is lowered and prominent so that the foot is apparently pushed outward, the candidate is rejected. But there have a broad flat-footing sole which is in no way disabling. Most negroes have such feet.

Flatfoot would be a rare anomaly if shoes were never worn. It is practically unknown in races that go barefoot. It would be unusual if shoes built on the plan of the regulation army shoe were universally worn. It is caused, not by long standing, nor by much walking, or by heavy work, but by the vicious shoes we wear. Soles so narrow as to cramp the toes and prevent muscular action of the entire foot.

These exercises, last which are straight or even outward turning instead of turning inward as the foot naturally does upon the foot, never have a broad flat-footing sole which is in no way disabling. Most negroes have such feet.

One with weak, or, as the doctors call it, pronated feet—that is, feet which tend to roll in at the ankles when walking and toes that point outward—should first of all wear the regulation army shoe or a shoe built exactly like it. He should practice walking on a straight line, and to the infant at ten, never outward. He should exercise the weak upon the toes, toeing in and slowly lowering himself to the floor, several times in succession. Then, after a while, riding slowly on the heels. Also rotating or bending the foot forcibly inward as far as he can with the foot, and holding it there for a few moments. The victim of weak feet should walk on the outer edge of the foot, and if necessary have half inch lifts on the inner borders of his shoes and heels to aid in this. A few weeks of such efforts will cure most cases of pronated feet.

Should one upon rising in the morning take a bath in the tub just as the water comes from the faucet? Some people assert that cold baths bring on heart failure. I have been taking them for a year or more, and they certainly make me feel fine. In my house we are all members of your Bread and Milk Club, and in fact we have changed the name of the paper to "Dr. Brady" (G. G. S.)

ANSWER—Cold baths are all right if you enjoy them and feel refreshed afterward. An air bath is my choice in the morning. No danger of heart failure in either case.

NEARLY 12,000 PERSONS UNDER PUBLIC CARE STATE REPORT SHOWS

City Physicians Explain Why They Prescribe Nuxated Iron

To Make Beautiful, Healthy Women and Strong Vigorous Men

NOW BEING USED BY OVER THREE MILLION PEOPLE ANNUALLY

Quickly Transforms the flabby flesh, toneless tissues, and pallid cheeks of weak, anemic men and women into a perfect glow of health and beauty—often increases the strength of delicate, nervous, run-down folks 100 per cent in two weeks' time.

New York, N. Y.—It is conservatively estimated that over three million people annually in this country alone are taking Nuxated Iron. Such astonishing results have been reported from its use by both doctors and laymen, that a number of physicians in various parts of the country have been asked to explain why they prescribe it so extensively, and why it produces so much better results than were obtained from the old forms of iron.

Besides these there are 3,086 persons on parole. Upwards of 1,200 persons are on parole from the insane institutions of the state. The report shows that there are 8,093 insane patients in the state public care. Of this number 6,184 are in the county hospitals, 1,041 in the Wisconsin State Hospital at Waupun, and 868 in the two state hospitals for the insane and 613 in the Milwaukee Hospital for Insane.

There are 702 patients in the receiving treatment for tuberculosis in public institutions. Of this number 495 are being cared for in county sanatoriums; 21 in the Tomahawk sanatorium, and 186 in the Wisconsin Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Green Bay. There are 110 on the waiting list at the tuberculosis institutions.

The population of the insane asylums for boys is 412, state 384; state public school, 236; and for the feeble minded, 1,699; and in the Wisconsin Reformatory at Green Bay, 303.

Alkali Makes Soap Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.
The best thing to use is just plain mulled coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and costs the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.
Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

THOSE AWFUL CRAMPS

Suggestions that may save Much Suffering

Marysville, Pa.—"For twelve years I suffered with terrible cramps. I would have to stay in bed several days every month. I tried all kinds of remedies and was treated by doctors, but my trouble continued until one day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for others. I tried it and now I am never troubled with cramps and feel like a different woman. I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly and I am recommending it to my friends who suffer as I did."
—Mrs. GEORGE R. NAYLOR, Box 72, Marysville, Pa.

Young women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by this root and herb remedy.

Resinol

does wonders for sick skins

That itching, burning skin-trouble which keeps you scratching and digging, is a source of embarrassment, as well as of torment to you. Why don't you get rid of it by using Resinol Ointment? Physicians prescribe it constantly. In most cases, it stops itching instantly and heals the skin promptly. It is the only ointment to use.

The Real Man

"Very well; you'd better stay away as long as you can, and then you'd better communicate with me before you show yourself much in public. I'll have Jibbey looking out for you."
Smith said "good-by" and hung up the receiver with a fresh twinge of dissatisfaction. Every step made his dependence upon Vera Richlander more complete. Corona Baldwin, what would she say to this newest alliance? Would she not say again, and this time with greater truth, that he was a coward of the basest sort; of the type that makes no scruple of hiding behind a woman's skirts?

Between the non-hour and the one-o'clock Hopora House luncheon, Mr. David Kinzie, still halting between two opinions, left his desk and the bank and crossed the street to the hotel. He wrote his name on a card and let the clerk send it up. The boy came back almost immediately with word that Miss Richlander was waiting in the mezzanine parlors. The banker tipped the call-boy and went up alone. He had seen Miss Richlander, once when she was driving with Smith and again at the theater in the same company. So he knew what to expect when he tramped heavily into the parlor overlooking the street. None the less, the dazzling beauty of the young woman who rose to shake hands with him and call him by name rather took him off his feet. David Kinzie was a hopeless bachelor, for choice, but there are women, and women.

"Do you know, Mr. Kinzie, I have been expecting you all day," she said sweetly, making him sit down beside her on one of the flaming red monstrosities billed in the hotel inventories as "Louis Quinze sofas." "My father sent me a note by one of your young men, and he said that perhaps you would— that perhaps you might want to— that perhaps you was at it, fruitless, and the hesitation was of exactly the proper shade.

Kinzie, gold-blooded as a fish with despondent debtors, felt himself suddenly warmed and moved to be gentle with this gracious young woman.

"Er—yes, Miss Richlander—er—a disagreeable duty, you know. I wanted to ask about this young man, Smith. We don't know him very well here in Brewster, and as he has considerable business dealings with the bank, we—that is, I thought your father might be able to tell us something about his standing in his home town."
"And my father did tell you?"
"Well—yes; he—er—he says Smith is a—grand rascal; a fugitive from justice; and we thought—" David Kinzie, well hardened in all the processes of dealing with men, was making difficult weather of it with this all-too-beautiful young woman.

Miss Richlander's laugh was well restrained. She seemed to be struggling earnestly to make it appear so.
"You business gentlemen are so funny!" she commented. "You know, of course, Mr. Kinzie, that this Mr. Smith and I are old friends; you've probably seen us together enough to be sure of that. Hasn't it occurred to you that however well I might know the Mr. Smith my father has written you about, I should hardly care to be seen in public with him?"

"Then there are two of them?" Kinzie demanded.

The young woman was laughing again. "Would that be so very wonderful?—with so many Smiths in the world?"
"But—er—the middle name, Miss Richlander; that isn't so infernally common, I'm sure."
"It is rather remarkable, isn't it? But there are a good many Montagues in our part of the world, too. The man my father wrote you about always signed himself 'J. Montague,' as if he were a little ashamed of the 'John.'"

"Then this Brewster Smith isn't the one who is wanted in Lawrenceville for embezzlement and attempted murder?"

"Excuse me," said the beauty, with another very palpable attempt to smother her amusement. "If you could only know this other Smith. J. Montague, as I remember him, was a typical society man—the kind of man who wears dress clothes even when he dines alone, and who wouldn't let his beard grow overnight for a king's ransom. But wait a moment. There is a young gentleman here who came last evening direct from Lawrenceville. Let me send for him."

She rose and pressed the bell push, and when the door boy came, he was sent to the lobby to page Jibbey. During the little wait, David Kinzie was skillfully made to talk about other things. Jibbey was easily found, as it appeared, and he came at once. Miss Richlander did the honors graciously.
"Mr. Kinzie, this is Mr. Tucker Jibbey, the son of one of our Lawrenceville bankers. Tucker—Mr. Kinzie; the president of the Brewster City National." Then, before Kinzie could begin: "Tucker, I've sent for you in self-defense. You know both Mr. John Smith, at present of Brewster, and also J. Montague Smith, sometime of Lawrenceville and now of goodness only knows where. Mr. Kinzie is trying to make out that they are one and the same."

Jibbey laughed broadly. He stood in no awe of banks, bankers, or stubby mustaches.

"I'll tell John, when I see him again— and take a chance on being able to run faster than he can," he chuckled. "Ripping good joke!"
"Then you know both men?" said Kinzie, glancing at his watch and rising.

"Like a book. They're no more alike than black and white. Our man here is from Cincinnati; isn't that where you met him, Verda? I recollect you didn't like him at first, because he wore a beard. They told me, the last time I was over in Cincinnati, he'd gone West somewhere, but they didn't say where. He was the first man I met when I hit down here. Little world, isn't it, Mr. Kinzie?"

David Kinzie was backing away, watch in hand. Business was very pressing, he said, and he must get back to his desk. He was very much obliged to Miss Richlander, and was only sorry that he had troubled her. When her father should return to Brewster he would be glad to meet him, and so on and so on, to and beyond the portieres which finally blotted him out, for the two who were left in the Louis Quinze parlor.

"Is that about what you wanted me to say?" queried Jibbey, when the click of the elevator door latch told them that Mr. Kinzie was descending.

"Tucker, there are times when you are almost lovable," said the beauty softly, with a hand on Jibbey's shoulder.

"I'm glad it's what you wanted, because it's what I was going to say, anyway," returned the ne'er-do-weel soberly, thus showing that he, too, had not yet outlived the influence of the overnight hand-grip.
Since Brewster was a full-fledged city, its banks closed at three o'clock. Ten minutes after the hour, which happened also to be about the same length of time after Starbuck and Smith had reached town, Mr. Crawford Stanton got himself admitted by the janitor of the side door of the Brewster City National. President Kinzie was still at his desk in his private room, and the promoter entered unannounced.

"I thought I'd hang off and give you the limit—all the time there was," he said, dropping into the debtor's chair at the desk-end. And then, with a quarrelsome rasp in his tone: "Are you getting ready to switch again?"

Though his victims often cursed the banker for his shrewd caution and his ruthless profit-taking, no one had ever accused him of timidity in a stand-up encounter.

The people you represent, own the Brewster City National, or any part of it, in fee simple."

"We can buy you out any minute we think we need you," retorted Stanton. "But never mind about that. Your man came back from the Topaz last night. You've let the better part of the day go by without saying a word, and I've drawn the only conclusion there is to draw."

Kinzie frowned his impatience. "If I have to do business with your people much longer, Mr. Stanton, I shall certainly suggest that they put a man in charge out here who can control his temper. Here is Mr. Richlander's letter."

Stanton read the letter through hastily, punctuating its final sentence with a brittle oath.

"And you've muddled over this all day, when every hour is worth more to us than your one-horse bank could earn in a year?" he rapped out. "What have you done? Have you telegraphed this sheriff?"

"No; and neither will you when I tell you the facts. You see what Mr. Richlander says. We had nothing to go on unless we could identify our man definitely, so I took the straightforward course and went to Miss Richlander."

Stanton's laugh was a derisive shout. "You need a guardian, Kinzie; you do, for a fact!" he sneered. "Of course, the girl pulled the wool over your eyes; any woman could do that!"

"—Pulled the Wool Over Your Eyes."

"You are not guining anything by being abusive, Stanton. This man of Baldwin's is not the one Mr. Richlander is trying to describe in that letter."

Stanton bit the tip from a cigar and struck a light.
"Kinzie," he said, "you think we're going to lose out, and you are trying to throw me off the scent. You had a long talk with Colonel Baldwin this morning—I kept cases on that, too—and you figured that you'd make money by seasawing again. I'm glad to be able to tell you that you are just about twenty-four hours too late."

The round-bodied banker righted his pivot chair with a snap and his lips were puffed out like the lips of a swimmer who sees the saving plank drifting out of reach.

"You are wrong, Stanton; altogether wrong!" he protested. "Baldwin was here because I sent for him to make a final attempt to swing him over to the compromise. You are doing me the greatest possible injustice!"

Stanton rose and made ready to go. "I think that would be rather hard to do, Kinzie," he flung back. "Nobody loves a trimmer. But in the present case you are not going to lose anything. We'll take your stock at par, as I promised you we would."

It was at this crisis that David Kinzie showed himself as the exponent of the saying that every man has his modicum of saving grace, by smiling upon the arm of his chair and glaring up at the promoter.

"There's another promise of yours that you've got to remember, too, Stanton," he argued harshly. "You've got to hold Dexter Baldwin harmless!"

Stanton's smile was a mask of pure malice. "I've made you no definite promise as to that; but you shall have one now. I'll promise to break Baldwin in two and throw him and his ranchmen backers out of the Timan-yoni. That's what you get for playing fast and loose with two people at the same time. When you look over your paying teller's statement for the day, you'll see that I have withdrawn our account from your tin-horn money shop. Good-day."

Home-Reading Course For Citizen-Soldiers

(Issued by the War Department and all rights to reprint reserved.)
This course of thirty daily lessons is offered to the men selected for service in the National Army as a practical help in getting started in the right way. It is informal in tone and does not attempt to give binding rules and directions. These are contained in the various manuals and regulations of the United States Army, to which this course is merely introductory.

LESSON NO. 8.

MARCHING AND CARE OF FEET.

(Preceding Lessons: 1. Your post of Honor. 2. Making Good as a Soldier. 3. The Quality of a Soldier. 4. Getting Ready for Camp. 5. First Days in Camp. 6. Cleanliness in Camp. 7. Your Health.)
The new soldier seldom understands how important it is for him to learn to march and to develop his muscles so that he can easily carry his arms and equipment. "Marching constitutes the principle occupation of troops in campaign," says Infantry Drill Regulations, paragraph 623. "Modern trench warfare in Europe has for the time being reduced the amount of marching required in campaigns, yet it remains as important an element in the soldier's training as it ever was."

In order to march for long distances the soldier's feet must be in good condition. As has been aptly remarked, "the infantryman's feet are his means of transportation." Special attention should be paid to the fitting of shoes and the care of the feet. In case any tendons become inflamed or swollen (usually due to lacing the leggings or shoe too tightly or to some other unnecessary pressure), soak the foot in cold water, massage the tendon, and protect it as much as possible by strips of adhesive plaster. You should report to a medical officer at your first opportunity to make sure that the trouble does not grow worse.

One sign of a green soldier is his tendency to drink too much, much water while on a long march. The experienced man argues his mouth and throat once in a while, but but drinks only in sips and does not overload his stomach with either water or food.

After you have arrived in camp and have cooled off you can drink slowly as much as you desire. It is, of course, unwise to eat fruits, candies, soft drinks, ice cream, and the like while on the march.

Another sign of a green soldier is a carelessly adjusted pack or any other equipment not neatly and securely fastened. Your comfort on the march depends very largely on the care and judgment used in getting ready. All your equipment has been so designed that it need not interfere with the free movement of your arms and legs. Your pack should be strapped on your back in such a way that you can stand erect and breathe freely. There should be no pressure on any of the soft parts of the body. You will march most easily if you keep your body erect and do not permit yourself to slouch or sway from side to side.

When the command is given to halt and fall out for a few minutes loosen your pack and rest back on it in a sitting and lying position. If possible, lie with your feet higher than the head, so as to let the blood flow out of the legs into the body and rest your heart. During the first few halts you may not feel tired, but rest

Dinner Stories

Old Zeb Jackson, the champion witwrecker, walked down the main street of the village one morning, dressed in his best suit, with a large brilliant buttonhole bouquet, and with cotton gloves on his big hands.

"Hello, Zeb," said the postman, "are you taking a holiday?"
"Dish yere," said the old man with a proud wave of his huge head, "dish yere am mah golding wedding anniversary, sah. I celebratin' hit."

"Is working as usual. I saw her at the washtub as I passed your house."

"Her?" said Zeb hotly. She ain't got nuffin ter do wif hit. She's mah fourth."

"I thought that in the fifteen years of my practice of medicine," said a physician, "I had answered almost every possible 'fool' question, but a new one was sprung on me recently. A young man came in with an inflamed eye, for which I prescribed medicine—to be dropped into the eye three times a day. He left the office, but returned in a few minutes, poked his head in the doorway and asked: 'Shall I drop this in the eye before meals or after?'"

One of the attractions of the church fete was a fortune-teller's tent.

A lady took her ten-year-old, red-haired, freckled son inside. The woman of wisdom bent over the crystal ball.

"Your son will be a very distinguished man if he lives long enough!"

"Oh, how nice!" gushed the proud mother. "And what will he be distinguished for?"

"For old age," replied the fortune-teller, slowly.

BACK BOYS ON FARM IS PLEA TO RETAILERS

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 22.—The backing up of boys and girls in the agricultural districts so that money will be loaned them in the raising of sheep was advocated in an address before the Wisconsin Retail Clothiers' association by President George C. Flynn of Madison. President Flynn also urged the enactment of legislation that will give merchants of the state the benefit of the income tax instead of the personal property tax in their business.

as completely as you can anyway. Look forward to the end of the march and try to handle yourself so that you will be strong and fresh at the finish. At the first halt it is well to adjust the pack or any part of the equipment not entirely comfortable. If your shoes or leggings are laced too tightly, this is the time to loosen them.

A cheerful attitude is one of the best aids to a soldier on a trying march. Singing and whistling on the march is usually not only allowed but encouraged. They help wonderfully to make the long road seem shorter. These are all very simple rules, but none the less important. Keep them in mind. Some men never learn of them from their own hard experience; but it is expected of the men in the national army that they will have the good sense to see the value of these suggestions and to apply them from the very beginning.

EXPLAINS TROUBLE AND SPAIN'S UNREST; DISCONTENT GENERAL

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madrid, Aug. 22.—The movement of unrest which has been making itself more and more felt in Spain during the last two months is due to three factors—the agitation in military circles, the discontent of the democratic party (which includes socialists, republicans and reformists), and the unrest of the working classes, due to the privations of the economic crisis. The dissatisfaction in the army is due to what is held to be favoritism, certain officers receiving advancement through court influence. It is claimed by the officers' committees that the king is aiming to form a personal party in the army on which he can rely for events. A second reason for discontent is the insufficiency of officers' pay and the need for technical reorganization in the army. As important is the agitation of the democratic group, which is daily growing more dissatisfied with the government's attitude towards the belligerents and lack of firmness with regard to the central empire. This group, which comprises the various anti-constitutional parties and has been supporting the government, forms what is called the "Block of the Left," is working with combined energies to give Spanish neutrality a frankly ententeophile character. One of the ends in view is a diplomatic rupture with the central empire, the pretext for which would be the German submarine exploits against Spanish shipping.

The third factor, the unrest in the working classes, is entirely due to the economic crisis. Sympathy for one or the other group of belligerents varies according to the different regions. The main object of the democratic party is to turn both the military and the proletarian movements to its own benefit, by co-ordinating them and giving them a common direction. As regards the military malcontents, this appears quite feasible, in view of the fact that so far as the army has been concerned, very little of the actual form of government, therefore if the "block of the left" can persuade the dissatisfied military elements that their aims are identical with the democratic group, they will not hesitate to make common cause with them.

The democratic group is likewise counting on turning the last for its advantage. If a general strike is proclaimed, which seems quite likely, and another cabinet crisis is the result, the workers will not object to the radical party gain the upper hand in the government. This party is therefore watching intently every phase of the labor unrest, as well as the development of the military movement, ready to exploit itself. On the other hand, the declaration signed by the leaders of the three political parties which fused to form the "block of the left" leaves no doubt that the group contemplates vigorous action, even independently of the army and labor movements.

DAIRY CONDITIONS IN EXCELLENT SHAPE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Aug. 22.—That Wisconsin dairy conditions are in excellent shape is the claim of State Dairy and Food Commissioner George J. Weigle, who made public the results of a statewide investigation today. For the year ending June 30, 1917, the various inspectors and members of the dairy and food department have visited 210 cities for the purpose of collecting samples of milk and cream offered for sale, says Commissioner Weigle. "At the same time inspection has been made of the places where the milk was produced and handled."

In these 210 cities, 691 samples of milk were collected from nearly as many dealers or persons selling milk. In a few cases duplicate samples were collected from the same dealer if more than one wagon was used. The average per cent of fat in the 691 samples was 3.8 per cent. Only seven samples, or 1.01 per cent of all samples collected contained less than 3 per cent of fat. The 347 samples offered for sale as cream contained an average of 24.1 per cent of fat with 22 or 6.75 per cent of the milk with containing less than 18 per cent of fat. It was found that 50 per cent of the cream samples below 18 were bought in one large city and some of the 10 low testing samples were bought from parties selling a limited amount.

"It is a credit to the milk dealers and the dairymen when milk and cream of such high content is sold. A few of the samples of milk below standard (3.0 per cent) were found to be the normal product of a herd. The consumers demand milk with a fat content of at least 3.5 per cent. In a large number of cities the average per cent of fat in cream is safely above the 18 per cent mark. The statement urges cleanliness and caution in handling milk in order to increase the standard of the product offered for sale."

ASK PERMISSION TO BOOST GAS RATES

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Aug. 22.—Three applications for increases in the price of gas as the result of the advance in the price of coal have been filed with the railroad commission and given a hearing. Rate increases are asked in the cities of La Crosse, Eau Claire and Sheboygan. No action has been taken on any of the applications as yet.

All of the applications ask for an emergency gas rate based on the increase in the price of coal and raising with each dollar extra that the gas company has to pay for coal. The advance asked for is about six cents per ton for each additional dollar in the cost of coal. The passing on these applications may be delayed until action is taken by President Wilson on the coal situation.

In the case of the city of Sheboygan, which was given a hearing before the railroad commission yesterday afternoon, the gas company produced contracts showing that two years ago it purchased its coal at $3.60 a ton, last year at $4.90, but on July 1, the best contract that could be made for coal was $5.13 per ton. The Sheboygan company is asking for an increase that would amount to approximately 15 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas.

The applications of the La Crosse and Eau Claire companies are on the theory of a sliding scale. These companies ask that they be permitted to increase their charges to consumers a certain number of cents for each additional dollar in the cost of coal. Because there are a number of other cases as yet pending, the La Crosse gas situation it is probable that this application will be disposed of soon. A more thorough investigation is now being conducted into the Eau Claire situation.

MICHAELIS FATHERED JAPAN MILITARY DRILL

Tokio, Aug. 22.—Dr. George Michaelis, the recently appointed imperial chancellor of Germany, was the man who introduced into the Japanese school system the system of military training that every Japanese school boy of today goes through. He was then a teacher in the German school in Kanda, Tokio.

Thirty years ago Dr. Michaelis came out to Japan as a young man to become principal of the German school, which was supported by the German society of Japan. Among his students were boys who have become prominent in the public life of this country, including K. Arimatsu, director of the bureau of legislation in the present cabinet and Prince Hirobumi, Count Terauchi, and Prof. Mikai, former member of the faculty of Keio university.

Prof. Mikai giving reminiscences of Dr. Michaelis said in an interview: "He came to Japan, if I remember rightly, in 1885. He was rather young and unmarried. He came out through the influence of either Prince Hirobumi or Count Terauchi, both since dead. He was still young it seems to me that his knowledge was not deep, but he was spiritual and looked a man of steady character."

He was very popular with his students, who liked to attend his lectures. He came first on a contract of three years, but the contract was prolonged for two more years at the desire of the school authorities. He was the man who first introduced in his school a system of military drill for boys, and this is now universally practiced at every school for boys in this country. He was very fond of exercise and often took part in games with his students. He was short, yet strong. He was a very fast runner and could beat any of his students easily; but when he was running a race with his students he never outran them, but always allowed one or two to run ahead of him so as to encourage the boys."
